Washington, July 12 .- (A)-Faced with a shortage of pilots to man its growing fleet of airplanes, the navy is putting into effect a new method of training by which it hopes to speed up the development of capable avia-

To keep pace with the influx of airplanes into the service under the program designed to give it 1,000 useful planes in five years, the department needed 749 pilots on July 1. It was short almost a hundred men. At the end of this fiscal year it will need 915 fliers, but expects to have only 787. As the new program of training moves ahead, however, the number of fliers is expected to catch up with the acquisition of planes in ANNULMENT SOUGHT number of fliers is expected to catch up with the acquisition of planes in 1933.

In the article the officer had charged that the navy was over-organized both afloat and ashore; that it had failed to demobilize completely after the World War and that large amounts of money were wasted by continuance of uneconomical warmethods, maintenance of superfluous navy yards and bases and keeping in commission ships useless for war service.

Charges Denied.

The charges were denied by the navy department and the admiral was requested to submit proof of some of his statements and also a plan for effecting greater economy in the operation of the navy.

Magruder's replies were considered unsatisfactory and he was allowed to remain "awaiting orders" unit today, receiving full pay meanwhile. Repeated efforts were made by friends of the admiral that he deformed the duty and soon after the beginning of the Hoover administration if developed that his case was receiving attention.

By today's order Admiral Magrudet will take over a command which for the past three years has been held by an officer who ranks next to him in seniority of service. SCHOOL TEACHERS BECOMING MOTHERS MAY BE SUSPENDED

Macon. Ga., July 12.—(P)—Suspension of a school teacher for a period of six years in the event she should become a mother was asked in a resolution introduced at a meetng of the board of education here

The resolution, introduced by Wal-lace Miller, former mayor and chairman of a committee appointed to draw it, said:

"Be it resolved by the board of education of Bibb county that from and after the passage of this resolution any woman teacher to whom a child s born shall thereafter be ineligible to teach for a period of six years, un-less, in the opinion of the committee on teachers and salaries, the case on its facts, is exceptional."

It was believed the proposed change in the rules and regulations would evoke lengthy discussion when brought before the board for final action.

Text of Letter From McKeand To Whitley on Highway Bonds

campain follows:

Atlanta, Ga., July 8, 1929.

Mr. J. E. Whitley.

Whitley Construction Co.,
LaGrange, Ga.

Dear Mr. Whitley: Your letter of July 5 came to my desk this morning and I am giving you a brief summary of the activities of the committee up to the present time.

The original fund which started in June of last year totaled $3,750.

This money was paid through our publicity department, salary of Mr. C. Armond Carroll and the writer's personal traveling expenses for two or three field men on special errands. Mr. J. R. Fairman, of the Portland Cement Association, has the complete record of this fund.

Coming down to the present movement which started vigorously the latter part of April with the meeting of the County Commissioners' Association. Only $100 has been received from contractors, none from an immediate start, both on publicity and finance; the financial and general campaign under the direction of the writer and the publicity under the direction of Mr. Carroll. Our publicity campaign consists of:

Series of Stories.

(a) A series of stories in the daily papers, at least two a week. Each daily with the exception of three—The Atlanta Journal, the Moultrie and Tifton dailies, were with us and have used our material, making 19 dailies that have used our material.

(b) A series of stories in the country weeklies. One hundred and eighty-one out of 238 have co-operated with us in carrying our material. We furnished through the weekly newspapers mats and plates for their use and a close check shows the response as having been very excellent indeed. In fact, many of the dailies asked for and used the mats and cuts that we furnished the weeklies.

(c) A series of window cards for use in store windows, tacking in filling stations, garages, hotels, etc.

The above have been carried out and we will have added to it a series of motion pictures which have been taken showing actual road conditions on paving in the mud and in the dust so that our line-up will be complete. These will be released during the next few weeks at something like 190 theaters over the state.

Our organization movement consisted of placing five experienced sales in the several counties in the state for three purposes:

1. To arouse interest in the bond issue itself.

2. To circulate petitions for signature.

3. To assist in securing funds to carry on the campaign, believing that the automobile owners and the county commissioners in the several counties should assist in financing a movement that was for their benefit. This fund was to be known as our publicity fund and the quota was set on the basis of 10 cents per car per county, making a total subscription, if all received, of about $30,000. This to be used over a period of 18 months until the bond issue itself was voted upon.

SOLICITATION OF LEGAL CASES HIT BY BEAVERS

Chief Instructs Men To Enforce Sections Prohibiting Seeking of Business at Headquarters.

Solicitation of legal business from prisoners at the Atlanta police head-quarters was hit Friday when Chief of Police James L. Beavers issued a special order instructing his men rigidly to enforce those sections of the city code which prohibit this practice.

Sections 869, 870 and 873, of the code, were the ones which the chief appended to his order for reading to the men, and they deal respectively with loitering about the station house, soliciting of legal business by lawyers or their employes and the punishment for these offenses. Chief Beavers, in commenting on his order, declared that it was directed principally at the paid solicitors of unethical lawyers, who loiter about the police headquarters and solicite business for their employer. The police head condemned this as a nuisance, to prisoners and to officers. He made it clear, however, that lawyers summoned by prisoners or appearing to see a regular client would be extended every reason ble consideration.

To illustrate the detailed work that is involved in an airport project, one might select a single problem that faces the engineer when he begins work. This is equipping the airport to conform with the requirements of the department of commerce for the class of airport that the community wishes to have.

wishes to have.

In drawing up these requirements the department recognized that some cities would require larger airports than others, and while certain elaborate equipment would be necessary for an air mail terminal where planes uld be leaving night and day in all

Several classes of airports were designated, therefore, with strict require-ments for those with the best ratings, and with a lower rating for fields where conditions did not warrant the expenditure of substantial sums of ney for elaborate equipment.

The Airport Rating. The rating of an airport is given a letter, followed by a number and letter. The highest possible rating, for example, is "A I A." Certain basic requirements must be met for a rating. Beyond these, the particular rating of an airport is indicated by its letter combination, the first letter per-

Striking back at the governor's statement, Mr. Martin declared he could not "permit an untrue statement, even from the governor of Florida, to go unchallenged when his only purpose is to discredit another administration and to cover up his own inability to keep his promises. "It is a cowardly subterfuge that he is trying to hide behind," Mr. Martin continued, "because he is unable to reduce state taxes as he promised. To the contrary, he has given the state the highest taxes it has ever had in its history."

REX GOES INTO ACTION.
The man who loved Joy listened as if for the answer of some oracle.
The boy replied, simply and quietly now, "She meant it all right. Even before I asked her I knew."
And then Rex Travers felt that he too, had known.

Ilad not his own instinct whispered truly? Had not Joy's eves and gestures betrayed her—even to that gesture of impetuously demanding her freedom? When she had cared nothing for him she could say in so many words, "Dr. Travers, why don't you marry me?" Now she cried in effect "Why don't you let me go?" she had never wanted to go. She cared. Even the boy knew that. Even this kid! Joy cared. Joyous certainly swept in upon the very soul of Rex Travers as the released fountain sweeps down upon the parched stone. Not knowing what he touched, he stacked together this litter of supper things, and for that instant his whole face was irradiated by an involuntary, absent and most boyishly enraptured smile.

Travers, in consternation, was staring at the clock.

Gone more than an hour—And where?

"Three o'clock." thought Geoffrey, his eyes turning to the small clock set in the front of the Fiat. "We've done more than thirty miles. . . . Joy's still asleep. Car's still going all right—"

It was only one iustant after realizing that Joy must have been in love with him—think of it—in love with him during all these wasted weeks, that Travers remembered the further truth; that, thanks to his own blindness she was now off at the rate of 40 miles per hour with another man. Another instant and he knew what he had to do about that.

He was out of the kitchen; he was upstairs, on the balcony, down the balcony steps, into the garden, heading for the grille. At his heels hurried an aghast boy in pajamas and rain coat.

"Uncle Rex, where you going?"

Norelius Breaks Five Pro Marks

New York, July 12.—(United News.)—Martha Norelius officially entered the realm of professional swimmers very auspiciously here today.

The former Olympic women's champion made her first appearance as a performer in a Bronx pool this afternoon, swimming 500 yards against time and breaking five professional records along the route.

These records, the International Professional Swimmers' Associations indicated, will be recognized as official world marks, giving Martha a most notable start as a hireling.

Besides the 500 yards, Martha was timed at 200 and 400 meters; 220 and 440 yards. At each distance the time was slower than her amateur record performances, but still good enough to better the time of any other professional mermaid. The times for the 220 yards and 200 meters were identical, timers announced after the swim. The official times for the five record distances were:

Loud speakers through which the detail of play will be announced to crowds at Grant field may be tried this fall, according to W. A. Alexander, head coach.

Coach Alexander was impressed with the effectiveness of a broadcasting truck that was in operation at Birmingham during the Southern Conference track meet and plans to experiment with it at the Flats for football.

As to whether a single large speaker such as now is marketed for use in public parks will be effective in a football day by staging a comeback to stadium, Coach Alexander is uncertain. He is curious to find decisively defeat Jack Mooney out. If successful the speaker will be used all season, he says. tennis-Bryan Grant and Dan

An experienced football detailer was at the microphone and attempted to call the name of the player and yardage as soon as a play was evidenced in Mooney's failure to place his shots and by his inability to use his backhand stroke effectively. Gault was invincible in net player. The system was not exactly a success. The crowd made so much noise under its own power that the faint rumbling of the speaker was engulfed. Between halves scores of distant games were announced successfullywhen the Alabama band was not playing.

In the Rose Bowl at Pasadena, however, two batteries of loud speakers mounted on towers on opposite sides of the field gave a detail of the game as it went along that was audible in the press box and understandable. I never heard whether spectators could hear it or not.

Of course the announcer failed to advise one and all what Roy Riegals was doing when he sold out for his own goal line, but then everybody was bewildered, including the wise men of the press, and the temporary suspension of detail forgivable.

Coach Alex is convinced that loud speakers mounted every 10 or 15 yards in front of the stands and pointed straight at the congregation would give a distinct report of the game and add to the enjoyment of the spectator by identifying each player instantly and giving the correct yardage. This method, In Ala. Final however, would be expensive. The speaker truck may be tried out instead.

RABBIT-KILLER.

Phil Ball, president of the St. Louis Browns, without a word of warning has attacked the rabbit ball and the cow-tail swingers with devastating force.

The magnate grew weary of seeing homers smacked into his right field bleachers, only 308 yards from home plate. When his team came home the other day, a high fence of chicken wire shut off the home run gulch from the heavy hitters.

Thus is the richest spot in the American league for the home run brigade suddenly closed. It was there that Ken Williams first hit three homes in one game and again, two in one inning. Babe Ruth hit three there in one game-did it twice. A few such barriers scattered over the major league circuit quickly would restore the balance between attack and defense.

FOR THE TITLE.

Unless an outsider gallops home in the American classic at Arlington park today, the winner of this mile and a quarter test for three-year-olds will be acclaimed champion of 1929.

All the stake winners of the year-with exception of the champion place horse, Naishapur—are entered. Early odds rated the field in order of public favor as follows: Blue Larkspur, Rose of Sharon, Clyde Van Dusen, Windy City, Dr. Freeland, Karl Eitel, Grey Coat, Frances Milward; others were given only an outside chance.

Blue Larkspur, in spite of his recent defeat by Grey Coat, is rated favorite, with the superb filly, Rose of Sharon, second choice, and Clyde Van Dusen, the short hopping son of Man o' War, third in favor. Prospects are that the track will be

An Atlanta Journal employe will wear the Atlanta newspaper golf crown of 1929 for one year. That fact was assured Friday afternoon on the Ansley Park course when Angus Perkerson, Sunday magazine editor, eliminated Dick Winchell, of the Georgian and present champion, 5 and 3, and Roy Fuss eliminated Linton Hopkins, a fellow editorial room employe, 6 and 5, in the semi-final matches. Fuss will meet Perkerson for the 1929 title, probably next Tuesday in a 36-hole match. In the consolation flight, another Atlanta Journal employe will be crowned champion, for Larry Caudill won by default and A. T. Carson defeated Joe Holliday Friday in the semi-finals of that flight. The final will be played at a convenient time for both players.

New York, July 12.—(United News)—John Heydler, president of the National league, today exonerated Hack Wilson, Chicago outfielder, of the charge that he brutally and without justification attacked Pete Donohue, Cincinnati pitcher, in the Union depot, Chicago, on the night of July 4.

Heydler today heard the testimony of five Chicago players, including Wilson himself, and, after weighing their stories against those of Cincinnati players who previously had testified, he ruled that the evidence did not sustain the charge.

Wilson's case was dismissed with only a reprimand and warning.

Championships in Three Leagues To Be Decided Soon.

With the races in the American and National S. S. A. A. leagues fast drawing to a close and with Edgewood Baptist already "in" as pennant winner in the National and Grace Methodist two and a half games in the lead in the American, things should hum for the next three Saturdays.

Grace Methodist needs one more victory to almost clinch the championship, and a chance to meet Edgewood Baptist in the three-game series for the championship of the S. S. A. And possession of the beautiful cup, which will be awarded for the winner this season. A team to become permanent owner of this cup must win it three times.

In the games Saturday there was a change made in the playing fields. Grace Methodist-Westminster Presby-terian game, originally scheduled at Henry Grady field, was transferred Henry Grady field, was transferred to Emory university to start at 2 o'clock. It means that Braddock will have to come through with a knockout to get the verdict, and knocking Loughran out isn't one of the season's outstanding customs.

Braddock is a younger, improving fighter, with his share of brains and courage. He is coming on, and Loughran isn't. That could make a big difference, except that Loughran, at 27, isn't doddering quite yet. There is this to consider in the case of Braddock-his initials are

Of course, that carefully built nest was no longer needed. Little Bob Whites, like little Grouse, have no use for a nest. Once hatched they are ready to run and leave the nest for all time. So almost as soon as the last little Bob White was out of the shell, Mrs. Bob led her family off through the grass. She wasn't sorry to leave that nest. You might think she would have been sorry to leave what had been home for so many weeks, but she wasn't. You see, she knew that Reddy Fox and others knew that she had her home somewhere in that particular part of the Green Meadows. So she wanted to get her family away from there as soon as possible.

tising columns carried the announcements of 75 prominent toilet goods manufacturers.

Of approximately $150,000,000 sales in drug stores in nine large cities 7.07 per cent constituted toilet articles and preparations sales. This type of merchandise was exceeded in sales by only confections and soft drinks and of other upblic utility shares.

Solidated Gas 7 1-2.

Motors were again soft; also some of the market, especially public utility being and steel shares, fairly boiled. New highs were made for Steel common, Bethlehem, Republic, American Can, Consolidated Gas and a long list of the market, especially public utility shares.

The industry is rapidly becoming better organized, and the application of sound sales principles is mainly responsible for the increased sales percentages during the last three years.

"At least half of the men, wonnen," and children in the United States visit public beauty parlors and barber shops at one time or another," says one authority. Is it any wonder that approximately $600,000,000 is spent annually for beauty preparations and services?

The trend of fashion accentuated by the youth-seeking movement is an influence to be reckoned with. How long the rise in toilet requisite sales will continue is problematic. We have been living in a happy period the last seven years.

The beauty industry recognizes need of a certain amount of caution, for already warnings are sounded to the trade to "study the customer both as to wishes and her needs," to avoid overselling, to proclaim truthfully the quality of all products, and to introduce a greater degree of scientific sales procedure.

In investing in this industry caremusts be exercised to determine how strong the competitive positions of companies are, how able their management, what proportions of earnings are placed back in the companies, and possibilities of appreciation?

100. Considering the radically adverse

Considering the radically adverse character of today's crop advices, the wheat market although scoring a substantial fresh advance made a somewhat lame response to the news. Big profit-taking sales and hedging pressure from the domestic harvest region southwest acted as a good deal of a counterbalance, and held wheat values back. Besides buying power had already extended itself to a remarkable degree on crop damage reports, total purchases yesterday of wheat for functional purchases yesterday of wheat for functional process of the same deliveries here having been $7, 20,000 bushels, the largest amount for any single day since May 1 last. for any single day since May 1 last.

Nevertheless, the upward trend of the market most of the time today was of unmistakable force and prices soared to about the topmost level reached since early last April.

High temperatures northwest and prospects of continued injury from drought allowed only fractional setbacks from the day's top prices for wheat. Advices were meanwhile at hand that drought persists in Argentina and Australia. Bullish incentives were also found in reports telling of heavy damage which torrential rains and floods had done to domestic wheat in the harvest section southwest, where additional moisture tonight was also predicted. A good-sized volume of export business in hard winter wheat by way of the Gulf of Mexico was moreover said to be in progress. oreover said to be in progress.

An idea that a good many contracts had been absorbed by many contracts had been absorbed by trade buying and that declines earlier in the week had entitled the market to week-end rallies, probably accounted for some of the buying which carried prices up to 17.98 for July and 18.59 for January in the late trading or about 8 to 16 points net higher. The close was a few points off from the best under realizing.

the best under realizing.

No particular news feature appeared to be connected with the advance, which some of the local brokers attributed largely to the market's technical position. Cable advices stating that Lancashire cotton mill-employers had voted in favor of posting the notices of a reduction in wages equivalent to about 12 1-2 per cent of present earnings, came in for some comment but seemed to be offset by other cable reports stating that there was a probability of government intervention the best under realizing.

At earnings, came in for but seemed to be offset by our reports stating that there was probability of government intervention in the wage dispute if necessary.

The disposition to even up commitments for over the week-end was probably increased by some uncertainty as to the showing of the census report on domestic consumption which is expected temorrow morning.

According to a private report the condition of the crop has continued to improve this week and has probably gained about a point since the beginning of July, but it is stated a beginning of July, but it is stated a land a said that local and leas and leas and that local and leas and that local and leas and the local and leas and the local and leas and leas and leas and leas and the local and leas an ably gained about a point since the beginning of July, but it is stated a period of hot, dry weather is urgently needed to control the boll weevil. Liverpool cables said that local and continental liquidation had been absorbed by trade buying and calling in the Liverpool market but that there was a general disinclination to pay current prices for cotton goods.

New Orleans, July 12.—(P)—Varied bullish influences steadied the cotton market today and although trading was slack prices advanced moderately. Fol-lowing a slight recession from an open-ing advance the market firmed up later under a demand stimulated by fears of boll weevil depredations in sections of the belt and October con-tracts advanced from 18.10 to 18.26 and closed at 18.21 for a net gain of 8 points. The general market closed steady at net advances of 5 to 8 points. Liverpool cables were relatively steady and the market here opened at an advance of 5 to 6 points in re-sponse. 3 Sloss Sheff St & Ir ... 63 63 1 Southern Dairies B 10 10 13 Southern Pacific 139 138 Watermelon shipments from the south have broken all former records during June and the carlot movement is now more than double the total made to the same date last season. So far this season a total of 25,120 carloads of watermelons have moved out of the states of Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Mississippi, South Carolina 3 South Porto Rico Sug. 371 371 out of the states of Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Mississippi, South Carolina and Texas. This exceeds last year's total to July 1 by approximately 15,000 carloads.

Conditions have favored the heavy movement of watermelons that have set a new record that is thought by heavy receivers to stand for many years to come. Hot weather in the north and an early season in the south brought the watermelon cropalong in time to meet this unusual heavy demand for this time of the year.

Practically every early melon state has broken its last year's record for June shipments. This year finds the many of the movement centered one peak of the movement centered one month ahead of other years which usually comes in July.

Receipt Record Falls.

In keeping with the heavy movement of watermelons so early in the season the New York market has broken all records in its daily receipts and the actual consumption of this delicious product. Not only has the supply been large but the high quality of the product has met with the approval of the consuming public and they have taken to watermelons in huge amounts. Not only have they eaten watermelons in great numbers but they have paid prices that have been above other years when the supply has not been nearly as heavy as this season. Receipt Record Falls.

During the month of June, the New York market consumed a total of 2,019 carloads of watermelons.

With the exception of July, 1927, when 2,052 cars of melons were unloaded, the month just passed stands, at the top. The receipts for June were nearly three times the 21-25 average and about double those of June erage and about double those of June,

Florida Sets Mark.

Florida broke all records on watermelon shipments by unloading in New York 1.103 carloads. She came in this is in this in the large of 1928 when she shipped only 1,203 cars for the entire season and 880 cars in 1927.

While Georgia has always supplied
New York with the bulk of her watermelons, marketing her crop in July, this year she has come into the market one month earlier and found the public eager to buy them in the largest amounts even known.

The heavy movement of melons so early in June has brought the crop to its peak and out of the way long before the crop from South Carolina has arrived and in this manner avoided a severe competition on the New York market.

Market Gossip

LIVINGSTON & CO.

New York, July 12.—(Special.)—After hesitating in an irregular trading range all week the advance was resumed today with a burst of strength which undenbtedly carried the average of industrial and utility stocks to new high levels for the year. Dealings were probably greater than for any day since the advance began in the latter part of May.

buoyant response to a comparatively small reduction in brokers' loans would appear to indicate that investors are confident at least of the present fundamental soundness of the industrial structure.

Prominent among the "blue ribbon" companies in three basic industries are John-Manville, American Can and National Biscotti Michael State of the present and unquestions of the industrial sponsorship, these three companies occupy the dominant positions in their papears of diameter production in their respective fields.

Important interests, accordingly close to inside circles continue to be enthusiant cover the bright prospects for all these stocks.

Faster and faster grew the pace of the dancers. Louder and louder, their wild and savage shouts. It was a terrible, primeval sight! Now Tarzan himself sprang to his feet and joined the wild ceremony. Among the glittering black bodies he leaped and roared, shaking his heavy spear in the same mad abandon as his fellow savages.

The last remnant of his civilization was forgotten. He was a primitive man to the fullest now, gloating in his kingship among those wild blacks. What would his fellow peers in the house of lords have thought, had one pointed at this dancing giant and said: "There, my lords, is John Clayton, Lord Greystoke!"

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

same moon, aboard the "Lady Alice," far to the west of Tarzan? Would she still have loved this savage warrior chieftain, dancing naked among his savage, naked subjects? As fate would have it, when the wild dance din rose highest, that beautiful yacht quivered from stem to stern and slowly sank into the Atlantic!
